

Contract Agreement

This contract is made and entered into on [Date] between [Client Full Name], hereinafter referred to as “the Client,” and [Worker Full Name], hereinafter referred to as “the Worker.” The Worker agrees to perform specific services for the Client, namely [describe the job clearly, e.g., developing a website or application, completing graphic design, etc.], in accordance with the requirements and specifications communicated by the Client. The Worker acknowledges that the task must be completed in a professional, timely, and satisfactory manner, and agrees to deliver the final work by [Final Deadline Date], along with any agreed-upon milestones or deliverables along the way. Payment for this work shall total $[Amount], to be disbursed in stages: an upfront payment of 30% upon signing of this agreement, 40% upon submission of the beta version or halfway deliverables, and the remaining 30% upon successful completion and approval of the final work. The Worker commits to delivering original work, not engaging in subcontracting without written permission, maintaining weekly communication, and correcting any major defects identified within a reasonable time (15 days maximum) post-delivery at no additional cost. Any unjustified delay beyond the agreed deadline will result in a $50 deduction per day from the final payment, unless an extension is formally approved by the Client. If the Worker fails to deliver the final work within [X] days of the deadline or abandons the project without cause, the Client reserves the right to terminate the contract, demand a refund of any paid amounts, and seek compensation for financial losses. Furthermore, should the Worker engage in fraudulent behavior, such as taking payment without intention of delivering the work or knowingly misrepresenting their abilities, the Client has the right to pursue legal action, including both civil claims and criminal prosecution under applicable laws. The Worker understands that intentional breach of this contract may be subject to penalties under the law, including lawsuits for damages or, in cases involving fraud or deception, referral to law enforcement for potential imprisonment under fraud or theft statutes. This contract shall be governed by the laws of [City/Country], and any disputes arising from it shall be resolved in the courts of the same jurisdiction. By agreeing to the terms herein, both parties acknowledge that they understand the contents of this contract and intend to be legally bound by its terms.

Client Signature:

Worker Signature: _____